AME BC advocates for a healthy environment and business climate on behalf of its over 4,000 members to facilitate mineral exploration and development in BC and throughout the world.

“AME BC has been critical to our business by working to protect the land base for mineral exploration, helping us with aboriginal relations, and simplifying the regulatory burdens we face every day.”

David Moore
President & CEO
Serengeti Resources Inc.

About AME BC

AME BC is the predominant voice of mineral exploration and development in BC. Established in 1912, the association promotes a healthy environment and business climate for the mineral exploration and development sector in British Columbia, Canada and globally. Our members benefit every day from our advocacy efforts as well as from networking and other promotional and sponsorship opportunities.

Advocacy

AME BC works every day on behalf of its members in the following areas:

- Lobbying – the provincial and federal governments on behalf of the mineral exploration and development industry
- Permitting - to develop more efficient and effective permitting to facilitate successful exploration in BC
- Land access and use - to ensure optimum access to explore BC's vast mineral potential
- Aboriginal engagement - to provide tools and opportunities to properly engage BC's First Nations and indigenous people worldwide
- Economic incentives - to help encourage investment and realize greater value for exploration projects within a competitive world
- Geoscience - to increase the production of and access to quality geoscience baseline data that informs prospective explorers and leads to the development of strategic targets
- Infrastructure - to promote development and stimulate mineral exploration and mining activity in remote areas
- Human resources - to ensure that our sector can continue to attract a qualified, motivated workforce
- Health and safety - to provide leadership in health and safety and promote "a safe day, everyday"

Did You Know?

AME BC organizes Mineral Exploration Roundup, the world's premier technical mineral exploration conference, attracting over 7,000 participants from over 40 countries.

AME BC works with governments at all levels and organizations across Canada to facilitate a friendly regulatory and investment environment for the mineral exploration sector.

AME BC's efforts led to the start-up of Geoscience BC, a world-class not-for-profit organization that works with industry, academia, government, First Nations, and communities to fund applied geoscience projects with the objective to attract mineral and oil & gas exploration to British Columbia.

“AME BC’s role in improving the work environment in BC has been important to Fjordland’s recent negotiations with major international mining companies.”

Tom Schroeter,
President & CEO
Fjordland Exploration Inc.
