

Exhibit Hall Treasure Hunt Overview

What is the Exhibit Hall Treasure Hunt?

- It is an opportunity for exhibitors to help drive traffic to their booth.
- It is a way to encourage Roundup attendees to explore the trade show.

How does the Exhibit Hall Treasure Hunt work?

- All Roundup attendees will be given a Treasure Hunt entry form when they receive their conference badge at registration.
 - On one side of the entry form will be information about the Treasure Hunt and a map of the trade show floor; and on the other will be a bingo style grid with the names of all participating companies, their booth number and exhibition day(s).
- All companies participating in the Treasure Hunt will be given a unique stamp for their spot on the grid.
- Roundup attendees will visit companies on the grid to obtain stamps.
- Once a Roundup attendee has 75% or more of their grid stamped, they can put their form in the Treasure Hunt draw box at the Roundup Information Booth.
- At the end of the last technical session on Thursday, January 21 (at approximately 4:45pm) the winner will be drawn. The winner must be present to collect their prize.
 - The prize will be a MacBook (Apple laptop) worth approximately $1100.
